Diploma in Vocational Education (DVE) Programme
Business Stream
For Post-secondary 3 Ethnic Minority Youths
Offered at IVE (Haking Wong)

Information as of March 2011
The Diploma in Vocational Education (DVE) is a credit-based programme for Secondary 3 & Secondary 4 school leavers, providing them a valuable progression pathway and preparing them for employment and further studies.

Programme Features

Flexible Curriculum Design

• With the credit-based modules as building blocks, the DVE programme allows students to achieve their individual learning goals flexibly.

• Upon accumulation of a prescribed number of credits, students will be eligible to obtain one of the following awards:
  - Technician Foundation Certificate (TFC)
  - Diploma in Vocational Education (DVE)

• Depending on the choice of modules and study pace, it normally takes two years and three years for students to complete the modules for attaining the TFC and DVE awards respectively.

Widely Recognised Qualifications

• Designed with inputs from respective trades, the DVE programme caters manpower needs of different industries and aligns with the general descriptors of the Qualifications Framework. The qualifications are well recognised for both employment and further studies.

Valued Choice for Further Studies and Employment

• The DVE Programme has the dual aims of preparing students for further studies and enhancing their employability.

• Upon completion of the prescribed modules, holders of the DVE award are eligible to apply for admission to the new Higher Diploma courses which will be offered starting from September 2012.

• Holders of the TFC award may take up junior positions in relevant trades. They may further complete relevant modules for the DVE award on a part-time basis.
